

Why do you have access to the model in your View? Where does it come from?

Model is created by the Controller and passed back to the DispatcherServlet which checks with the ViewResolver where the Model should be passed to and then passes it to the required View. So basically the Model comes from DispatcherServlet.